

Corporations turn to Challenge Training and Consulting for "e" Learning Consulting, Courseware & Instructional Services

Today's Business Climate

Today's business environment is global in nature, constantly changing and increasingly complex. Corporations must find cost effective ways to train their global workforce and business partners around the world on new products, technologies, policies and procedures along with new industry specific regulations imposed by government agencies. Companies must approach their domestic and international learning initiatives in a very cost effective but highly interactive manner.

Performance

Since our inception in 1994, Challenge Training & Consulting (CTC) has maintained a strong relationship with a number of the nation's leading corporations in order to provide them with unique learning solutions that exceed their requirements for training their workforce in a cost efficient manner. CTC ensures a specific focus on quality in every aspect of developing and delivering training on varied topics for a diverse national and international employee base.

A number of companies have chosen to deploy "e" Learning solutions to meet their global training requirements in a cost effective but highly interactive manner. Challenge Training & Consulting has a number of Consultants, Courseware Developers and Instructors that have significant experience with varied "e" Learning environments and Learning Management Systems (LMS). We can partner with our clients to offer cost effective consulting; content development and training solutions, which will help them successfully, implement their "e" Learning strategies and initiatives.
